

THIS IS NORTHFIELD CREATIVE RESIDENCY PROGRAMME

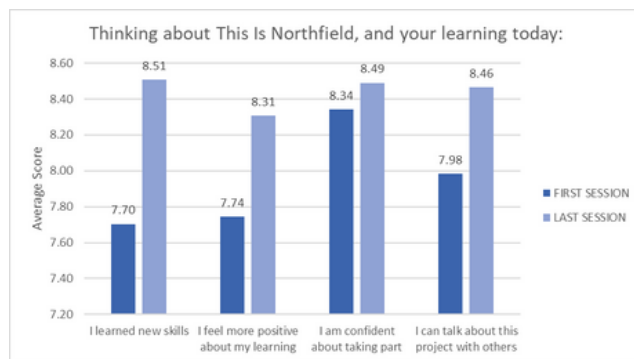

This is Northfield, is an Aberdeen City Council programme which will deliver four artists' residencies within Northfield Academy from early 2023 until spring 2024.

Working with artists on projects themed around Creative Northfield, Resilient Northfield, Health and Wellbeing and What's Your Treasure?, the programme is engaging with pupils, teachers and the wider school community to explore, discuss and celebrate the school and its community, whilst improving students META Skills and learning experience.

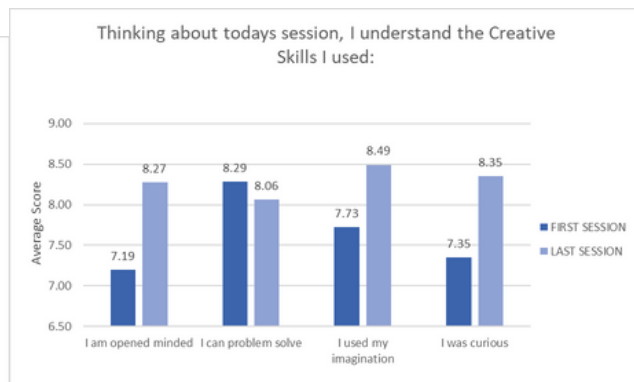

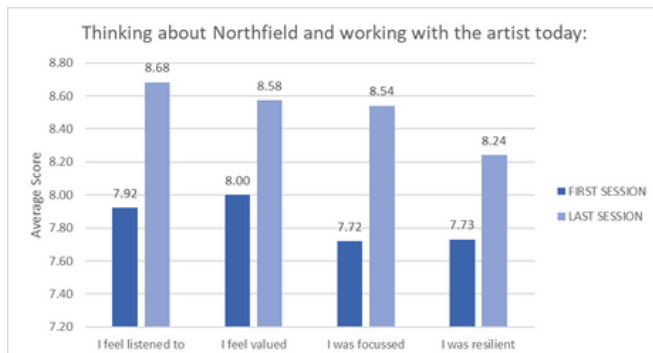

This is Northfield is being delivered by the Council's Creative Learning team, together with a number of partners, including staff from the Archives, Gallery & Museums team.

This project was funded by the Scottish Government through the Pupil Equity Fund

| | |
|--|------------|
| Number of Freelance Artists employed on project | 5 |
| Number of students participating in the project | 250 |
| Number of staff participating in project | 25 |

STATISTICS & IMPACT

Young people felt more listened to, valued and resilient. They felt more confident about their learning whilst learning new creativity & employability skills.

The project focussed on developing META Skills within the classroom with the majority of pupils feeling they could better problem solve and use this imagination by the end of the project.

FEEDBACK

The artist has made me think about my future and how enjoying art and being creative can be a career choice. He has inspired me to think about fashion design. I'm making my own skirts and altering clothes now. I get to use my granny's sewing machine.

Participant

